David Johnson – Formula Art

From a young age David Johnson has always had a fascination of Formula One. After initially watching the sport on television, David attended his first Grand Prix at Silverstone in 1997. What began as an interest, evolved into a true passion.

Embarking on a career as an artist, his exploration to capture the excitement and atmosphere of the race through painting his racing driver heroes evolved towards using a palette knife — the perfect tool for conveying the motion and power of motorsport.

David Johnson of Formula Art has exhibited at a range of venues and events including the British, Australian, Las Vegas and US Grand Prix, MotoGP, Grand Prix Ball, BRDC and Royal Automobile Club. He has featured in publications such as MotorSport and worked with many of motor sport's greats from Sir Jackie Stewart to Lando Norris.
